“ My brother was a kind and gentle soul with a gentil spirit. He didn't care about fame nor fortune. He loved God; cared mainly for family, faithful friends, and rightfully took pride in service to his Country. He lived his life without fanfare, selfishness, and narcissism. He taught me to always remain humble and to see the world as it really is—not as a mirage. For he always knew and believed that absolute peace, freedom, and total communion could only be achieved in the afterlife.

In this time of uncertainty around the world, let's remember to care for each other in real terms and be like David—a man after God's own heart.

Love to all!
