“ BABY, today marked four years since you been gone, and it feels like yesterday; everyday feels like yesterday. There is not one day that pass that I dont think about you; you are gone, but will never be forgotten. I had been thorough so much hurdles, and wish you were here to go through them with me; some of wish I would not have gone through if you were here. Since you been gone life has never been the same, because there is none like you.

You were the TRUE ANTIDOTE of love, loyalty, forgiving, kindness and caring. You were the kind of person that gives all of you to everyone that asks of you, even when it serms impossible. You were a big brother I never had, a father I never had, my best friend and the qualities every woman looks for in a man. You were also a fiance that every woman would want to have.

If there is a heaven and you are there, I would like to do everything in my power to be there with you, and if there is a resurrection and you will be resurrected I would like to do whatever it takes to resurrect with you. I love you so much, not even words can explain.

REST IN PEACE MY LOVE; LOVE YOU ALWAYS ❤️😭

“ The only person who has ever loved and cared for me. For the passed 3 years I find life meaningless, sad and empty. I tried to accept and move on, but it's hard. I cannot find the strength to move forward, and this is because of the kind of person you were, and there is no closure as to why you gone so suddenly.

Two months before you died you asked me why I love you, and my response were "you are the most kind and loyal person I have ever known". That day we wept together! I still asking myself, will I ever find another beautiful soul like you?

No matter what we been through you never leave me. For 14 years you played the role of a loving partner, best friend, father, brother etc. No one in the world can ever take your place. I love you so much!!

Rest in peace my dear beloved Frederick

“ Fred, three years passed and it still seemed like yesterday. I still cry every single day. I want to accept and moved on, but the nature of your death cannot allow me, because there is no closure as to why you gone so suddenly. Sighed. I love you so much; more than words can say. You were a kind; loyal and a loving man; one that anyone would want for a husband, a father, a son, a brother, an uncle and a friend. REST IN PEACE MY LOVE❤️

“ I loved my cousin and I will never forget him. I just found out last night and I am a mess right now! We became very close in the past couple of years while living in West Palm Beach and he thought he would be gone years ago. Bu,t Frederick always said that " My time is when God calls me home." He is no longer in pain. I will always love and miss you Frederick, and I will never forget your smile.

*Love you always,
